

Regional Community Health Team

OUR GOAL

Advance community health and well-being through training, technical assistance, and capacity building to local governments, community-based organizations, and coalitions to support community engagement processes, assessment activities, and data-informed action planning.

Building healthier communities across Wisconsin

WHAT WE DO

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

Support local partners in planning and completing community-engaged assessment processes to inform community health planning. Facilitate collaborative work between local governments, community-based organizations, local Extension staff, and UW-Madison campus-based staff and partners to build healthier communities.

DATA-INFORMED

ACTION PLANNING

Identify and share data, research, theories, and frameworks with local partners to inform data-to-action cycles.

CONSULTATION, TRAINING, AND ASSISTANCE

Plan and deliver consultation, training, and technical assistance to local and Tribal health departments, community-based organizations, and Extension colleagues in support of community health promotion.

To learn more, please contact Regional Community Health Team Supervisor Sarah Boulton at sarah.boulton@wisc.edu.

Connect with us
extension.wisc.edu/health

facebook.com/HWBInstitute

instagram.com/wisconsinextensionhealth

